Books for the Holidays.

The latest-bound volumes of Scribner and St. Nicholas constitute the best holiday presents, price considered, that the market affords. They contain not only some of the best increase the past year, but a great deal of the best art of the time. Perhaps the public never will know how much these magazines have done to bring out new writers of merit and bring up illustrative art in this country. They are full of pictures that have no equal in any other part of the world. Our artists unmistakably excel their English and French brothers, and to Scribner is due no small part of the prise for this advancement. In an article in the current number of the North American Review, Mr. George L. Boutwell, who will be remembered as the person who ran the United States treasury on the principle that underlies the tying of a tin can to a dog's tail, maps out and elaborates the future policy of the republican party under the administration of the new-elected president. That portion of the programme which relates to the south is worthy th serious attention of the people of this section. We need not take the pains to lay the details of this programme before our readers, since a synopsis can be made vivid and complete enough for all the purposes of information. Mr. Boutwell lares that the south, as a political fragment of the nation, is still unrepent ant and refractory, and that it must be taken in hand, put under duress and castigated until there is some teresting to note in this connection, in Mr. Boutwell's opinion, this castin is deserved not alone because the is solid against the republican, but because its views in regard to seessity of tariff reform are calcular "imperil" the industries of the In other words, we are to be in hand not alone because we are insoft the decrease due, but the decrease due, but the state of the decrease due, but the state of the decrease due, but the state of a great story. Cockburn was the nephew of the rancal washington City in 1814, and his death is a great social relief to England."

—The latest visionary business achemes robability that it will behave itself. It s interesting to note in this connection that, in Mr. Boutwell's opinion, this castigation is deserved not alone because the ath is solid against the republican party, but because its views in regard to the necessity of tariff reform are calcunorth. In other words, we are to be taken in hand not alone because we are assassins of the deepest dye, but because we are not in favor of that peculiar species of taxation for the benefit of monopolies which is falsely called protection. The solid south is to be broken not merely because it favors state rights, but because the republican party is "the "preserver and guardian of the industries "of the north." Frauds in elections are to be cured not by contests in congress, simply, but the republicans are to "ex"tort from the constitution" other means. For instance, the federal senate is to be made the umpire and judge to decide upon the election of state legislatures independent of state legislatures indepen state legislatures independent of state authority.

The wildest campaign idiot of the peried, it is to be observed, cut no wider swath than this, though it is perfectly in keeping with the animus of the canvass as carried on by the stalwart and dominant wing of the republican party. It is but fair to state, in passing, that the New York Times, the leading republican newspaper of the country, treats Mr. Boutwell's programme with a contempt state legislatures independent of state a volume devoted to a history of the credit Mobilier of America. Cincinnati Gazette, rep.

That is, the south will be new when her peorise up and follow the lead of such men as Gernor Brown, who a few days ago was elect United States senator by the Georgia legislaturia he views expressed by Governor Brown on live questions of the day, prior to his election, reproduced in this paper, and they deserve to read everywhere, north and south. He is a denorate but his principles are republican prin ples. Here they are in brief:

1. The constitutional amendments and reconstruction measures must be accepted and evented in good faith.

8. Internal improvements and harbors must be cared for by the national government.

4. Citizens must be fully protected in their equal legal rights without regard to race, color, or previous condition.

The New England system of education should be adopted and carried out at the soute, and the ethools should be free to the children of all classes and colors.

6. A free ballot and an honest count.

7. The old class of Bourbons must be rejected and the people should live in the present with heir faces turned to the future, their objective soint being the building up of the south and the rhole country. point being the building not the south as a whole country.

8. Colored people are entitled to hold office under the government, the only test being honesty and capacity.

9. Social questions to take care of themselves at the south as at the north.

Upon the e principles Governor Brown announced he would act if elected to the United States senate. He furthermore declared that he would not treat the administration of teneral Garrield from a parisan standpoint. And upon these declarations he was elected against an openent of the bourbon school of democratic polities.

If the democratic party should adopt Govern rown's platform it would find itself standi If the democratic party should adopt Governor Brown's platform it would find itself standing squarely on the republican platform. And the people of Georgia was follow that leader will find themselves in accord with the republican party, on those essential and practical polints.

In establishing free schools at the south Governor Brown thinks the national government should assist. His reasons for this are strong. The south was impoverished by the war. The capital invested in slaves was destroyed. The abolition of slavers three wipon the south agreat mass of uneducated people. It is fair, therefore, that the national government should aid in providing an education for the children of the freedmen. Unquestionably the best investment that could be made by the national government would be in free schools, not only for the blacks, but also for the whites, and if the south will manifest a disposition to help itself in this regard, it will receive the sympathy and support of the republican party. In that way, and under the leadership of such men as Governor Brown, we may not have to wait long for a new south.

New Orleans Times.

New Orleans Times. Colquitt and Brown represent the conservative and progressive element of the Georgia democracy, and their success shows that their views are adorsed by the majority of their party. Governor Brown believes that it is for the interest of nor Brown believes that it is for the interest of the south to pay less attention to national politics and more to the development of her mineral agricultural and manufacturing resources. He wants to see his state, and the whole south which are the state, and the whole south which are the state, and the whole south which are the people—colored as well as white—and in treating all classes althe without reference to color, race of previous condition. Governor Brown has the hearty support of the middle and lower classes of the white people of his state, because he looks after their interests, and, also, of the colored people because he regards them as citizes in the fullest sense and insists that justice shall be dong them. There is no doubt that he will be a man of mark and influence in the senate.

Fair Play in Politics.

Sectionalism and partisan bigotry would soon die out if the democratic journals were all as conservative and fair-minded as THE ATLANTA CONSTITUTION. We make an extract this morning from its columns which justifies this view of its candor and fairness in dealing with the political situation in the south. We commend its perusal to all the readers of the Hawkeye. And we especially commend it to those cowardly and trickling northern democrat organs that have either been silent in regard to the outrage in the sixth congressional district of Mississippi or els: have unblushingly justified it.

It is time that the political press should be equal to the occasion and condemn wrong doing wherever it may be found. The Hawkeye has had no hesitancy in denouncing the proscriptive feature of the constitution of the republican state of New Hampshire inhibiting Roman Catholics from holding office: nor has it any sympathy with republics for suffrage is suffrage in the constitution of the republican state of New Hampshire inhibiting Roman Catholics from holding office: nor has it any sympathy with republic suffrage is when he property qualifications. We have no sympathy with hijustice and we find ourselves institutively in sympathy with any journal whatever its party bias, which has the courage and the manliness to announce the infringement of human rights regardless of party. The ATLANTA CONSTITUTION was honorably conspicuous in its denunciation of the murder of Judge Chsholin, and the Yazzo traged.

Chicago Tribune, rep.
This is such a speech as Lamar, or Wae Hampton, or Hamburg Butler, or Ben Hi it lickie the northern ear. But no southern state man, seeking office at home, ever made such speech before; no, not in the history of souther politics. To be sure, in other parts of his speec senator Brown claimed credit for his record as secessionist, as a war governor, and a defender the war of rebellion; and it is noticeable in treport of the speech that it is in these portions it that all the applause marks are found. Raum told him that, notwithstanding the charges that had been made against Colonel Fitzimons, he now considered it highly improbable that Mr. Hayes would remove him. Every time that anything was charged against Fitzsimons, the attorney general, after looking into the matter, concluded that there were no grounds upon which he could be removed. Andraw Clark having thus become satisfied against himself that nothing could be done with the present administration, yesterday set himself off for Mentor, Ohio, where cherail Garfield lives. in July, 1881.

Mr. Fouche offered a substitute that the general assembly adjourn sine die after the expiration of forty days from the commencement thereof.

After considerable discussion participated in by Messrs. Fouche, McDaniel, Buut, Guerry and Meldrim, Yr. Fouche moved to amend his substitute as follows: "Or until such other time as may be agreed to by a two-thirds majority of the senate and house of representatives." More discussion ensued and then the amendment and substitute were voted down and the original resolution adopted by a vote of 21 to 10.

Mr. McDaniel made the point of order that the constitution required a majority of all the senators and representatives elected to adopt the resolution.

The chair allowed discussion upon the point of order. The chair sustained the point of order made by Mr. McDaniel.

Mr. Guerry appealed from the decision of the chair, but, before the vote was taken the hour of adjourment came, and the senate adjourned till ten o'clock to day.

THE COTTON MARKET.

CONSTITUTION OFFICE, Atlanta, November 26, 1880. New York-The activity of the cotton marks ur predictions amply liberal, the actual move ment of the market presents such a remarkabl and the market advanced rapidly. Later on and during the middle of the week great excitement prevailed and at times the market was much de moralized. Wednesday the market developed remarkable strength and moved up with astonishing rapidity. At the close of the day the months had gained nearly $\frac{1}{2}\circ\cover$ ever the closing quotations of the day previous with the tone showing strength and the prospects for higher prices exceedingly encouraging. Thursday was generally observed as Thanksgiving day, hence no reports. At the opening of business to-day all the fire and excitement of the week past seems to have concent, ted in that one moment and futures opened at the maximum figures o the season, being the highest quoted in months.

This had the effect to demoralize the whole country, and never before in the history of the cotton ade has speculative manipulations and gene al an overwhelming pitch of intense enthusiasm.
The opening quotations, which varied 1%c to 2c above the closing quotations of a week ago, lacked the strength nece sary to sustain the and early in the day the market relaxed its hold and the tumble which followed up to the close eclipses any downfall ever before mentione 1 osses for the day footing up % 3%c for the future nonths. While the futures market is attracting niversal attention spots have not been still, and every particular have they maintained their in every particular have they maintained their prominence. The advance in the spot market is not an unimportant one, and the beneficial results thus arising is of vast importance to the general country. At the opening to-day spots were quiet and nominal with quotations marked up Xc, thus placing a margin of ic over the 10c tations of a week ago. At the close no quod'alle change had occurred; middling 12c. There is one thiag, however, that deserves especial notice, and that is the extraordinary transactions that and that is the extraordinary transactions that have taken place in the futures market. Sales amount to the enormous sum of 404,000 bales, which is probably 103,000 bales in excess of any previous day's transact ons hitherto known. The immense sales Wednesday of 360,000 bales was regarded as almost fabulous, but the remarkable sales of to-day stand without a parallel in this A bill to relieve one Hughes, commissioner of schools in Union county. Refered to committee on education.

Mr. David C. Reid, formerly of Eatonton, was yesterday married to Miss Marian C. Harris, daughter of Colonel A. L. Harris. The ceremony that united this happy couple was performed by Rev. N. K. Smith, pastor of the Third Presbyterian church, and we trust that there is something significant and auspicious in the fact that the marriage occurred on Thanksgiving day. None save relatives of the two families were present. Mr. Reid is a son of Judge D. H. Reid, of Eatonton, but for some time past has been a citizen of Atlanta. The friends of the young couple will cordially unite with us in wishing them all the happiness and good luck imaginable.

after a most prosperous and satisfactory work of nine months during this year. They are in an exceedingly flourishing condition, and during the term which ended yesterday more than five hundred pupils have been accommodated above the number which could have been supplied with seats under the original grading plan. This has been accomplished by double grading, or in other words, where one of the grades was not full, by taking enough pupils from the next lower grade to make the full number allowed in each room, and so on throughout the entire school. The future of our schools is very encouraging and at no time since their organization have they appeared to have that indorsement and hearty support which they now receive. Three thousand six hundred and twelve pupils were enrolled during the year, and although the mumps and several diseases of like character have prevailed to an unusual degree, the average attendance has been quite large.

The building of Fair street school house has been a heavy drain upon the appropriation, that building and furniture costing about sixteen thousand dollars. About six thousand dollars have been appropriated for the building of a colored school-house on Wheat street, and when that is finished the city will be very well supplied with school buildings. Hayne street will probably be the next place which will claim a school building, as that portion of the city is in need of one for the colored children. The heavy expense which was incurred by the building of Fair street school house and the appropriation for the colored wheat street school, made the appropriation for the colored wheat street schools of the schools fall short of the amount needed to finish up this year's work. JUDGE GEORGE HILLYER PRESIDING

Dr. Wills's Sermon,

In the report of Dr. Wills's sermon it should have been stated that one-half of the members of cougress, and not three hundred and seventy of them, were members of the church. The preacher said that the others were as good as the average of mankind promiscuously chosen. The statement that the honorable gentlemen of the legisture were conspicuous for their absence does injustice to some good men. The most influential members were present.

The lodge committee, after a careful investigation of the Atlanta references, sent the following telegram to Levi Bamberger, the millionaire merchant of Louisville: ind of the chapton superior court in of the case of Mrs. Cunningham vs. Maddox & Rucker, suit for damages for injuries sustained by a bale of cotton in the street, falling upon her and injuring her, occupied the evening. The jury rendered a verdict for the plaintiff for the sum of $2,500 and costs of suit.

Levi Bamberger, Bamberger, Bloom of Co., Louisville, Ky.: What's the standing of The National Mutual Benefit Association of Louisville, and your connection there with. John R. Haskins.

Louisville, November 18, 1880.—John R. Haskins, Atlants, Ga.: The standing of The National Mutual Benefit Association is good. It numbers fifty-five hundred members; has thirty-five thousand dollars surplus in the treasury. I am one of its directors.

The National Mutual B. Association issues certificates for $4,000 insurance, costing $12 entrance fee and assessments, as deaths occur. A $2,000 certificate costs $7. Annual dues on either amount only $2. No risks taken in the epidemic districts of the Mississippi, Gulf or Seaboard.
